Forest Green Granite

Forest green granite glitters like gold due to its elite appearance. This green granite is light green and black interspersed grains over a bluish brown base. The sheer richness, elegance and near indestructibility of forest green granite has inspired amazing architecture all over the world. Forest green is a natural product subject to color and veining variation. Commercial forest green granite slabs are slightly veined or have spots or blotches.

Since time forest green granite has been the stone of choice. Today, the trend continues with added fervor it is used in a variety of forms in mansions, hotels, buildings, public places, monuments, structures etc.
